PURPOSE OF INTRODUCTORY PERIOD

I understand that the first ninety (90) days of employment constitute an introductory (Introductory) period. This period allows the Company to evaluate my: job performance; reliability and attendance; compliance with company policies and procedures; ability to safely perform assigned duties; and professional conduct with clients, the public, and coworkers. The introductory period does not guarantee employment for any specific duration, and employment may be terminated at any time during or after this period, consistent with at-will employment.

I understand that my employment with Hammer Head Security is at-will, meaning employment may be terminated by me or the Company at any time, with or without cause or notice, subject to applicable California law. Nothing in this agreement alters or modifies my at-will employment status.

PERFORMANCE EXPECTATIONS

During the introductory period, I am expected to: maintain a valid BSIS Guard Registration and all required permits at all times; follow all post orders, company policies, and client directives; comply with all Cal/OSHA safety requirements, including reporting hazards, injuries, and unsafe conditions immediately; maintain professional conduct, punctuality, and proper uniform standards; and perform all duties safely and effectively.
